DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election of Group I, claims 1-28 and 36-40 in the paper received November 3, 2003 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-3, 6-9, 21, 27, 36, and 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Atala (U.S. Patent 6,368,859).

The patent discloses a biocompatible matrix for use as a fascial sling. The matrix has at least two layers. The first layer is a layer of collagen-secreting cells that produce collagen. The second layer is a layer of elastin-secreting cells that produce elastin. Therefore, the reference anticipates the cited claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 1-28 and 36-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the teachings of Bell et al, Delmotte, Gregory and Li et al. taken as as whole.

The claims recite a composite matrix that has two layers. One of the layers has a flexibility modifying agent, specifically elastin, while the other layer is composed of collagen. There may also be present proteoglycans such as chondroitin sulfate or hyaluronic acid.

Biopolymeric matrixes, as well as their compositions, are well known. Delmotte teaches a biopolymeric membranes made of elastin or collagen. The membranes may be crosslinked. Li et al. teach a sheet membrane made of collagen. Gregory teach elastin matrices that may be welded to other tissue and may include other components such as cells and drugs and growth factors. Finally Bell et al., teaches that such matrices can be used in multiple layers and in multiple forms.

Absent objective evidence to the contrary, It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to produce conventional materials (elastin and collagen) in conventional ways (multi-layered biopolymeric matrices) and include conventional additives (cells and growth factors). It is clear from the prior art that one of ordinary skill in the art can vary both the components and amounts of the components to produce membranes having desired properties and uses. As a result, optimization of the components and amounts of same is deemed well within the skill of the practitioner.
